The Negro.

(From the Great Basin of the Nile, and Exploration of the Nile sources, by Samuel White Baker.)

"In the great system of creation that divided races and subdivided them according to mysterious laws, apportioning special qualities to each, the varieties of the human race exhibit certain characters and qualifications which adapt them to specific localities. The natural character of those races will not alter with a change of locality, but the instincts of each race will be developed in any country where they may be located. Thus the English are as English in Australia, India and America as they are in England, and in every locality they exhibit the indusury and energy of their native land: even so the African will remain negro in all his natural instincts, although transplanted to other soils; and those natural instincts being a love of idleness and savagedom he will assuredly relapse into an idle and savage state, unless specially governed and forced to industry.

"The history of the negro has proved the correctness of this theory! In no instance has he evinced other than a retrogression, when once freed from restraint. Like a horse without harness, he runs wild, but, if harnessed, no animal is more useful. Unfortunately, this is contrary to public opinion in England where the vox populi assumes the right of dictation on matters and men, in which it has had no experience. The English insist on their own weights and measures as the scales of excellence, and it has been decreed by the multitude, inexperienced in the negro personally, that he has been a badly treated brother: that he is a worthy member of the human family, placed in an inferior position through the prejudice and ignorance of the white man, with whom he should be upon equality. The negro has been, and still is, thoroughly misunderstood. However severely we may condemn the horrible system of slavery, the results of emancipation have proved that the negro does not appreciate the blessings of freedom, nor does he show the slightest feeling of gratitude to the hand that broke the rivets of his fetters. His narrow mind cannot embrace that feeling of pure philanthropy that first prompted England to declare herself against slavery. He only regards the anti-slavery movement as a proof of his own importance. In his limited horizon he is himself the important object and as a sequence to his self-conceit, he imagines that the whole world is at issue concerning the black man. The negro, therefore, being the important question, must be an important person, and he conducts himself accordingly—he is far too great a man to work. Upon this point his natural character exhibits itself more determinedly. Accordingly, he resists any attempt at coercion; being free, his first impulse is to claim an equality with those whom he lately served, and to usurp a dignity with absurd pretensions, that must inevitably insure the disgust of the white community. Ill will thus engendered, a hatred and jealousy is established between the two races, combined with the errors that, in such conditions, must arise on both sides. The final question remains. Why was the negro first introduced into our colonies—and to America?

"The sun is the great arbiter between the white and the black man. There are productions necessary to civilized countries, that can alone be cultivated in tropical climates, where the white man cannot live if exposed to labor in the sun. Thus such fertile countries as the West Indies and portions of America being without a native population, the negro was originally imported as a slave to fulfill the condition of a laborer. In his own country he was a wild savage, and enslaved his brother man; he thus became a victim to his own system; to the institution of slavery that is indigenous to the soil of Africa, and that has not been taught to the African by the white man, as is currently reported, but that has ever been the peculiar characteristic of African tribes.

"In his state of slavery the negro was compelled to work, and, through his labor, every country prospered where he had been introduced. He was suddenly freed; and from that moment he refused to work, and instead of being a useful member of society, he not only became a useless burden to the community, but a plotter and intriguer, imbued with a deadly hatred to the white man who had generously declared him free.

"Now, as the negro was originally imported as a laborer, but now refuses to labor, it is self-evident that he is a lamentable failure. Either he must be compelled to work, by some stringent law against vagrancy, or those beautiful countries that prospered under the conditions of negro-forced industry must yield to ruin, under negro freedom and idle independence. For an example of the results, look to St. Domingo!

"Under peculiar guidance, and subject to a certain restraint, the negro may be an important and most useful being; but if treated as an Englishman, he will affect the vices but none of the virtues of civilization, and his natural good qualities will be lost in his attempt to become a 'white man.'"

Quite a Coincidence.

During the reading of Mr. Dickens, on Tuesday night, at Carroll Hall, a coincidence occurred there that turned quite a titter, if not a laugh, on General Butler. It occurred during the reading or description of "Bob Sawyer's Party at his Lodgings," from Pickwick, in the quarrel scene between Noddy and Gunter. The following is the reading:

"I request that you'll favor me with your card," said Mr. Noddy.

"I'll do nothing of the kind, sir," replied Mr. Gunter.

"Why not, sir?" inquired Mr. Noddy.

"Because you'll stick it up over your chimney piece, and delude your visitors into the false belief that a gentleman has been to see you, sir," replied Mr. Gunter.

"Sir, a friend of mine shall wait on you in the morning," said Mr. Noddy.

"Sir, I'm very much obliged to you for the caution, and I'll leave particular directions with the servant to lock up the spoons," replied Mr. Gunter.

Previous to this, the hero of Fort Fisher was all attention, with outstretched neck, as though fearful of losing a single word, but when it came to the spoons his head bobbed down, like a terrapin's being jerked into its shell, and an unmistakeable titter and smile went over the audience, as though the spoon reference was very apropos.—Wash. Union.

Eleven births and four marriages took place last year among the ruling families of Europe. There are now only thirty-eight sovereigns in Europe, of whom twenty-one are princes, dukes, and grand dukes.

George Francis Train remarks, in a letter written at sea: "Shipboard is the place to read character; all there is in a man pops out when he is seasick."

The Tennessee Legislature has passed a bill making habitual drunkenness a ground of divorce. A majority of the members must want to get rid of their wives.

WM. A. HEARNE, JNO. W. DUNHAM,
EDITORS.

Raleigh, Wednesday, February 12, 1868.

WHETHER the people of the Southern States shall be allowed participation in the selection of a successor to Mr. Johnson remains to be decided. However the decision may be made, they can not regard the developments in the canvass preceding the election with other than the keenest interest, since from its result must their political and industrial future take its complexion. If the Republican party shall be successful in November—thus fixing upon these States the intolerable evil of negro suffrage with its incident, negro supremacy—our future presents no feature or phase begetting hope or inspiring energy. We shall witness, in that event, the total prostration of trade, the upheaval of the very substratum of our society, the abrogation of our customs, and the repeal of all the wise and benificent laws, under which, when free from interference, we have hitherto lived and prospered. Manufactories will be closed. Agriculture will languish under the refusal of the negro to become a laborer, and because of our inability to induce immigration to a land under the blighting curse of negro domination. Thousands of men, with dependent families, made homeless wanderers by the deprivation of the means of subsistence, will beg the bread, it is denied them to gain by honest toil, from friends whose condition will not allow the gift their charity would make. Schools and colleges will be closed, because deprived of their support, and the youth of the land will grow up in ignorance, to become, ere grown, vagrants and vagabonds.—"Signs shall become epitaphs of dead businesses," indeed, and the land, once the fairest of the globe, will be converted into a wilderness. Life, property and liberty will be put in constant jeopardy under laws originating in the ignorance or brutality of the negro, and the institutions which we have loved and cherished will be given to rude and violent destruction.

These we believe to be the legitimate and inevitable consequences of a Radical success in November.

On the contrary, if the Democracy—the true party of the Union and the Constitution—shall win the victory, which its courage, fidelity and regard for principle deserve, we shall come under the control of benigner laws, and prosperity will return to our borders. We shall be delivered from the woes that encompass us. Peace, rosy and radiant, will dwell amongst us, and we shall enter upon a future of wealthier and happier things. Despotism will shrink before the indignant rebuke of freemen, and they who, for partisan purposes, have made foot-balls of our rights and our liberties, will become the servants of the law, which, in their hour of temporary sway, they have dared to outrage and disregard.

These things being so we must regard the progress of political events with anxiety, and any facts indicating the persons likely to be chosen as candidates for the Presidency are full of interest and significance to us.

We propose briefly to collate such intelligence as has reached us by our exchanges and otherwise in this important matter.

The persons most prominently before the public in connection with the Radical nomination, which will be made at Chicago in May next, are Gen. Grant and Chief Justice Chase. Each has earnest friends, who advocate his claims upon the party. Recent events indicate that General Grant will defeat Mr. Chase in the nominating convention. New York, through her State Convention, has declared in his favor; and his recent betrayal of the confidence of the President, in the matter of Mr. Stanton's reinstatement, has greatly increased his popularity with the party whose ethics are embraced in the motto that "to the victors belong the spoils."

In addition to these facts the Radicals are certainly uneasy in regard to their prospects next Fall, and they may elect between Grant and Chase in favor of the former, hoping to control the election by reason of his military fame. Mr. Chase, however, will not tamely surrender his chances for the nomination, and earnest efforts will be made to influence public sentiment in his favor. He has strong claims upon his party—did it good service before it attained power, and is, besides, the favorite of the Radicals in the Southern States. He is eminently superior to Gen. Grant in a knowledge of statescraft and finances, and has had much more experience in public affairs.

There has not yet been a sufficient development of preference in the Democratic party to speculate even as to who will be its candidate. The Hon. George H. Pendleton, of Ohio, is unquestionably the choice of the Western Democrats.

The Conventions of the States of Ohio, Indiana and West Virginia have already expressed their confidence in his patriotism and ability, and have recommended his nomination. Gens. Sherman and Hancock, the Hons. John Quincy Adams and Horatio Seymour have also been mentioned in connection with the Presidency, while the New York Herald unequivocally advocates Mr. Johnson's claims to a re-election.

We sincerely trust that the selection will be made without regard to personal considerations, and that the nominating convention, acting in a spirit of genuine patriotism, may make its choice an honor, by selecting him who combines, in the greatest degree, the high qualities required for an acceptable discharge of executive duties.

THE proceedings of the Convention yesterday were marked by an exhibition of petty malice and hate, that would have deserved censure had they not disarmed criticism and contempt by their puerility and insignificance. We allude to the preamble and resolution which declare that rumors to the effect that Capt. Plato Durham, the delegate from Cleveland, had used dishonorable means to obtain the seat which he holds, greatly to his disgust and annoyance, and moving the appointment of a committee of three to investigate and report the result to the Convention. The resolution, doubtless, had its birth in the fear or anger created by the resolution introduced by Capt. Durham on Monday, reciting that rumors were current on the street, charging that certain ordinances passed by the Convention had been adopted by bribery and corrupting influences; and the eagreness with which the resolution of inquiry of yesterday was passed would seem to indicate that somebody dreads an investigation of his conduct in the matter.

We know Plato Durham well. He was our classmate and is our friend, and we shall not tell the people of North Carolina, who value his services and admire his courage, that any charge derogatory to his character is absolutely and unequivocally false. He is a gentleman, and if the Radicals think by this or any other means to intimidate and drive him from any course his judgment may dictate, we tell them they have mistaken their man. Neither threats nor force can swerve him from the discharge of his duty to his people and his State.

[The reader is particularly requested to remember the fact that no Reporter for this paper is allowed on the floor, in the halls or in the galleries of the Convention, and consequently our reports are made from under the table, behind the scenes, or as may be otherwise ordered and convenient.]

[TWENTY-FOURTH DAY.]

TUESDAY, Feb. 11, 1868.

In accordance with the programme published in the North Carolinian, the "Show" commenced at 10 o'clock, A. M.

Mr. Durham desired to know by what authority armed soldiers were stationed in the Hall.

Manager Cowles said they had not been placed there, but supposed they had entered the Hall for the purpose of warming.

Mr. Durham—I am not opposed to their warming, but let them leave their guns outside. I see them here with arms every day and do not understand it.

Ashley, Pilgrim, of Plymouth Rock, could'nt see "no reason" why soldiers should be expelled.

Mr. Bryan, of Kirk's raiders, didn't think anybody would be hurt. [Abe Lincoln once said, "nobody would be hurt!"]—the Conservatives need not become dismayed.

Mr. Durham rising, said he wanted the gentleman to understand most unmistakeably that the Conservatives of this body, though few, could not be dismayed by soldiers or any Republican members in the Hall.

Mr. Jones, of Washington, announced that the General commanding the District was in the City, and moved that a committee of three be appointed to wait on him, and invite him to visit the menagerie. The motion prevailed.

Previous to reading of the Journals, Harris, of Wake, nigger, offered the following:

WHEREAS, It is a matter of common rumor that Plato Durham, delegate "so called" from Cleveland, obtained his election by the dishonorable use of a certain official communication of the Freedmen's Bureau surreptitiously obtained, and whereas, if these rumors are true, it is the duty of this body to expose and purge itself of this corruption; therefore be it

Resolved, That a Select Committee of Three be appointed by the President, whose duty it shall be to ascertain and report whether such a corrupting procedure was adopted to secure the election of the said Plato Durham, as delegate to this Convention, and, if so, all the facts connected therewith to the end that the delegate, so-called, may be dealt with.

[Capt. Durham—long may he wave—having thrown a bombshell among the kangaroos yesterday, in the shape of a resolution of enquiry in regard to certain corrupting influences that had been used to secure the passage of a particular ordinance, the "animiles" became greatly enraged thereat, wherefore the above resolution of Harris, nigger.]

Mr. King, of Lenoir, moved to lay on the table, but withdrew in favor of Mr. Durham, who said that he wanted that resolution to go on record, and therefore hoped the resolution would be passed.

Mr. King said he would be obliged to renew his motion.

Harris, of Wake, nigger, said he did not see why the gentleman from Lenoir could not think of something of the kind on yesterday.

Mr. May said he hoped the resolution would not be laid on the table, as he thought it a matter of justice to allow the gentlemen to defend his character.

Mr. Durham,—I am very much obliged to my friend on the left, and hope that the resolution will not be laid on the table. If I could notice the source from which it came I would gladly do it, but coming from a source where there is no character, I can pay no attention to it. He wanted the vote taken that it might go on record.

Harris, of Wake, nigger, said he held that his character was as good as that of the mushroom from Cleaveland. A committee had been appointed to ascertain the names of persons who were disgracing themselves and members of this Convention, and he wanted no half-way business.

Mr. King, of Lenoir, objected, and moved to postpone indefinitely.

Mr. Heaton said it was a duty to all the members of the Convention and to their constituents that the matter be investigated, and if the gentleman from Cleaveland had no right to a seat here he should be put from the hall, and if not, allowed, of course, to remain.

Mr. Durham said that it had been insinuated that he introduced this resolution yesterday, merely to cast reflection upon certain members of the Republican party, but such insinuations were basely false. It was a duty he owed to his conservative friends, as he had been a friend to the bill.

Mr. Heaton asked if Mr. D. meant to say he spoke falsely.

Mr. Durham replied, I do, if you mean to insinuate anything of the kind against my intention in introducing my resolution.

Mr. Heaton said I do not.

Mr. Durham then said he did not mean to apply such language to him.

The call for the yeas and nays was not sustained, and the motion to postpone was put and ost, and the resolution was then adopted.

Journal of yesterday was then read and approved.

The President then appointed Messrs. E. W. Jones, Read and Grant, to wait on Gen. Canby, and on the Committee provided for by Mr. Durham's resolution of yesterday, Messrs. Durham, Ashley, and Harris, nigger, of Wake.

Mr. Ray a memorial from the citizens of Alamance in regard to the distillation of grain. Referred.

Mr. Franklin, a petition from Mrs. Todd, praying for divorce. Referred.

Mr. Abbott, from the committee appointed to confer with Gen. Canby, reported back four resolutions, and asked and were discharged from further consideration.

Harris, of Wake, nigger, an ordinance to prohibit, for a limited time, the sale of property under mortgage or deed of trust. Referred.

Leave of absence was granted Mr. Turner until Friday evening, and Hood until Monday.

Harris, of Wake, nigger, a resolution limiting the time of speeches to 15 minutes. Lies over.

SPECIAL ORDER.

The Judiciary Committee submitted the three following plans for creating Judges of the Supreme and Superior Courts, and asked for instructions which to act upon. The

First provides for their election by the people;

The second provides for their election by the Legislature; and the Third provides for their appointment by the Governor to be confirmed by the Senate.

Mr. Abbott, the Chairman of the Committee, said some wished to elect by the people, some by the General Assembly, and others that they should be appointed by the Governor, with the consent and by the advice of the General Assembly, and again others thought that the Senate alone should confirm the appointments by the Governor.

Mr. Tourgee held that it was the better plan to have their election left to the people—as a general thing the people would be found more pure and honest than legislators. If the people were not fit to elect the Judges they were not fit to elect a Governor or Legislators. The people could not be bought with a barrel of whiskey.—Speaking of New York, if the power had been vested in the Legislature to elect the Judges what would have been the condition of that State today? To leave such matters to the people he thought was due from the Convention, and hoped it would leave it to the people. [Perhaps it were entirely unnecessary to state that, Tourgee hankers for a Judgeship muchly.]

Mr. Jones, of Washington, appointed on the Committee to extend Gen. Canby an invitation to visit the Convention reported that he would make his visit on to-morrow at 11 o'clock. He being absent when the report of the Committee on Judiciary Department was read, the President again had it read for his benefit.

Mr. Jones, was opposed to any alterations in the old law of appointing Judges of the Supreme and Superior Courts, and still had a leaning towards the old landmarks.

Mr. Abbott opposed the measure, and said the government of this State was not based on the principles of a pure Democracy, fresh and direct from the people. It was a combination of authority derived from the people. The fewer number of persons a judge is under obligations to, the better judge he is. He would therefore vote for the resolution, which provided for the appointments of Judges by the Governor.

Mr. Pool said he would protest against the election system; was opposed to innovations in reference to the matter and was willing to go by judgment of the great framers of the Constitution. He ventured the prediction that if this system was carried into effect, why the delegate from Chatham, Mr. McDonald, would beat the best lawyer in the State. He thought it a dangerous step for the Convention to take, to submit to the people in the coming election too many issues. He held that the Convention should stand to the old Constitution as far as possible, and thought the government should conform as far as possible to the Constitution of the United States. Where a government had worked so well, he could see no necessity for a change. He was willing to make this compromise—let the Judges of the Supreme and Superior Courts be appointed by the Governor and confirmed by the Senate, and the magistrate elected by the people.

Mr. Watts held that neither of the plans suggested were proper, and it did seem to him that a compromise could be effected, by allowing the Supreme Court Judges to be appointed by the Governor, and confirmed by the Senate, and the Superior Court Judges elected by the people, and hoped the house would come to a decision on the subject.

Mr. Welker said what he held was that the people should never delegate to another what they are able to do, and no people were better qualified to do their duty than those of North Carolina. When the question was put in the beginning of the war whether there should be a Convention to begin war or not, the people voted down that proposition by 30,000 majority. Were the people not more wise than the Legislatures or the Conventions in that instance? If the judges were elected by the people, politically, each party would bring forward the very best men they had to occupy the position. By leaving it to the Governor it would be found that nothing but favorites of the Governor whether good or bad, would get the position.

Mr. King, of Lincoln, was decidedly opposed to making changes in our judicial system.

Mr. Kinney favored any plan that would bestow on the people the right to elect every officer. He was a North Carolinian, and next to the oldest man in the house.

Mr. Ing said he was no speaker, but being the senior of Mr. Kinney, he arose to endorse every word he had said.

Mr. Congleton did the same.

Mr. May favored the election system. If every delegate in the house opposed it, he would favor it.

Mr. Bryan also favored the change to the elective system.

Mr. Heaton said that the more he knew of the people of North Carolina, the more willing he was to trust them. If the middle ground was not chosen, he favored the popular system.

Hood, nigger, was in favor of the elective system. Had preferred appointment by Governor, and confirmation by Senate, but had changed.

Mr. Parker was opposed to the adoption of the system.

Mr. Trogden favored it, and thought this an opportune time to introduce it.

Mr. Graham, of Orange, hoped, as the matter was one of much importance, that it would be postponed, and made a motion to that effect.

Mr. Rich favored immediate action.

Mr. Abbott concurred with Mr. Rich.

Mr. May was ready for a vote, and opposed a postponement.

Galloway, nigger, asked that the report be read, and then declared himself in favor of the elective system.

Mr. Watts introduced a series of resolutions as a substitute.

The President ruled them out of order.

Mr. Graham, of Orange, had hoped that the Radicals would not interfere with the Judicial system of the State. He defended the present system, but told the opposition to adopt the new, and they would thereby the more certainly defeat the constitution.

Mr. Ray had always contended that many heads were wiser than a few. He would vote for giving the election to the people.

Mr. Ashley said the gentlemen were crowding the matter. He favored the popular system.

Mr. Graham, of Orange, said that as it was a very important subject, he hoped a vote would not be pressed, and therefore moved to postpone.

The motion was finally put and lost.

Mr. Heaton moved as a substitute for the first resolution the adoption of the last resolution.

Mr. Jones, of Washington, moved to take up the second resolution and make it a substitute for Mr. Heaton's substitute.

The vote was then taken on the substitute of Mr. Jones, and resulted, ayes 29; nays 64.

The third resolution—ayes 36; nays 66.

The first resolution—ayes 55; nays 37.

Mr. Welker, a resolution asking a loan of $30,000,000 from Congress for agricultural purposes.

The question then recurred on the adoption of the motion instructing the committee to frame an ordinance giving the election of all judicial officers to the people.

The yeas and nays were called for and sustained.

The vote stood, ayes 62; nays 17.

On motion, the Convention then adjourned.

NEWS AND MISCELLANY.

The following is the bill of the play now offered by the Jacobins at their theater in Washington, and their minor play-houses in the States and military monarchies:

ACT 1.

To continue a bureau for the subsistence of idle negroes at the expense of industrious white men;

ACT 2.

To seize all unoccupied lands in the South, and parcel them out in ten-acre lots to negroes;

ACT 3.

To declare a proposed amendment of the Constitution to be adopted without the ratification of three-fourths of the States;

ACT 4.

To keep re-instated the worst enemy of American freedom—the greatest butcher of civil justice under the code of military despotism—in the exercise of power from which he had been rightfully deposed;

ACT 5.

To subordinate the judicial to the legislative power, by dictating an arbitrary and unheard-of rule of action to the Supreme Court;

CLOSING SCENE.

To place in the hands of a military chieftain the authority of a dictator over the Constitution, executive and laws of the nation.

We propose, says the New York Express, that this bill be posted up conspicuously wherever the people feel a desire to know what national amusements are in store for them. It is as well to familiarize them with the play, so that when the performance is completed they will be able to thoroughly understand and properly appreciate its finest points.

The negotiations between the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad Company and the North German Lloyd Steamship Company have reached a successful issue, and the foreign company having had two large steamships built in the Clyde, announce the early opening of trade over this new route. The first steamer will leave Bremen for Baltimore about the first of March.

Before the war there were only five distilleries in New York city. Now there are over five hundred.

Johnson-Grant Correspondence.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 11.

The President begins his reply to Gen. Grant's last letter by saying: "The extraordinary character of your letter of the 3rd would seem to proclude a reply, but the manner in which publicity has been given to the correspondence whereof that letter forms a part, and the grave questions involved, induce this mode of giving a proper sequel to the communications which have passed between us. The statements of five members of the Cabinet present during the conversation of the 14th of January, and copies of their letters to me are enclosed." After quoting from Gen. Grant's letter, the President says: When controversy upon matters of fact reaches the point to which this has been brought, further assertion or denial between the immediate parties should cease, and especially when on either side it loses the character of respectful discussion, which is required by the relations in which the parties stand to each other.

After quoting from Gen. Grant's letter again, the President says: The point is that before you changed your views you had secretly determined to do the very thing, which you at last did—surrender the office to Mr. Stanton. You may have changed your views as to the law, but you certainly did change your views as to the course you had marked out for yourself from the beginning.

The President argues, at some length, the legality of his order to Grant to disregard Stanton's orders, making the point that Grant will not obey his direct ones, but will obey his indirect ones, or those going through Stanton. The President concludes: Without further comment upon the insubordinate attitude which you have assumed, I am at a loss to know how you can relieve yourself from obedience to the orders of the President, who is made by the constitution the commander-in-chief of the army and navy, and is, therefore, the official superior as well of the general of the army, as of the Secretary of War.

The President's letter to the Secretaries present at the conversation between himself and Grant on Jan. 14th, remarks that this morning's Chronicle contains the correspondence between the President and Grant reported from the War Department in answer to a call from the House, and asks the Secretaries to give him a statement of what was said on the occasion.

Secretary Welles says: My recollection of the conversation corresponds with your statements of it in your letter of the 31st of January. The three points specified in that letter giving your recollection of the conversation are correctly stated.

Secretary McCulloch says: I can not undertake to state the precise language used, but I have no hesitation in saying that your account of that conversation, as given in your letter to Gen. Grant, of the 31st, substantially and in all important respects accord with my recollection of it.

Secretary Randall says: I have read carefully the correspondence in question and particularly the letter of the President to Gen. Grant of the 31st. The following extract from that letter is, according to my recollection, a correct statement of the conversation that took place between the President and Gen. Grant at the Cabinet meeting on the 14th of January. Mr. Randall then quotes the President's version.

Mr. Seward's letter is quite long, giving a detailed account of his impressions of what occured—quoting the substance of what the President said. Mr. Seward says: I did not understand Grant as denying nor as explicitly admitting these statements in the form and full extent to which you made them. His admission of them was rather indirect and circumstantial, though I did not understand it to be an evasive one. After further details Mr. Seward continues: Certainly, Gen. Grant did not at any time in the Cabinet meeting insist that he had in the Saturday's conversation, either distinctly or finally advised you of his determination to retire from the charge of the War Department, otherwise than under your own subsequent direction. He acquiesced in your statement that the Saturday's conversation ended with an expectation that there would be a subsequent conference on the subject which he as well as yourself supposed could reasonably take place on Saturday. Gen. Grant admitted that it was his expectation or purpose to call on you Monday. Gen. Grant assigned reasons for the omission.

Mr. Seward's letter caused shouts of derision and incredulity as his cautious narrative proceeded.

Secretary Browning's letter is also quite long, and is mainly a repetition.

Gen. Grant has already written a reply opening: I have the honor to acknowledge the receipt of your communication of the 10th inst., accompanied by statements of five Cabinet officers of their recollection of what occurred in Cabinet meeting on the 14th of January. Without admitting anything contained in these statements, where they differ from anything heretofore stated by me, I propose to notice only that portion of your communication wherein I am charged with insubordination.

Gen. Grant then proceeds to argue the point at some length.

GRAND, GLOOMY AND PE-KOO-LIAR.

Unusual exhibitions of physical power to do or dare, have elicited in every age, and among all nations, the highest encomiums—the most enduring rewards. The heroes of the Heathen Mythology, of classic fable, or of Fairy tale, were either Titans or giants, or killers of giants. So deepseated and universal was this regard for mere physical prowess, that savages have always crowned their stoutest pugilists while living, and deified them when dead. Rome, and even Greece, before the dawn of the Christian era, erected shrines to their heroes; and victory in the Olympian Games was as sure a passport to the Pantheon as to Olympus.

The benign influences of the Christian religion; its ennobling, humanizing spirit, wherever it has gone, has dethroned whatever would unduly elevate the mere physicial—animal man, enthroning in its stead those moral virtues that purify our fallen nature, and assimilate man to his Creator. Prominent among these, "the sovereign of the rest," is moral courage. Never to do what is right, because it is right, at all hazards and under all circumstances;—spirit to stand alone at the post of duty and of danger, resisting and despising every temptation "to follow the multitude to do evil"—this—this is the crowning glory of true manhood,—the acme—the climax—the extremest apex—the Ultima Thule of the moral sublimity.

Never has it been our good fortune to witness a spectacle so replete with moral grandeur—so radiant with the triumph of mind over matter—than that displayed on Monday last by Head Centre Kalvin J. Kowles, Manager of the Zoological Museum at the Capitol. That a fitting memorial of his unparalleled heroism may be transmitted to "de archives of gravity," we concluded (as Captain Cuttle would say) to "make a note on it," leaving to some abler chronicler the pleasing task of amplifying and illustrating at leisure.

Briefly, the facts were these. The ring-tailed Monkey and gibbering Gorillas were eating their gobers more quietly than usual, and the asinine lion (from Guilford) was growling his discontent at the failure of his wonted supply of ginger-cakes from Chatham; while the tawny saddle-colored fox (a Wake county contribution to the Museum) restlessly awaited the arrival of Chicken-Cock Gunter, expecting his usual share from the last raid upon the hen-roosts. The other animals had been subdued into tolerable quiet by a sop of mileage, doled out by their keepers; and Manager Kowles, having adjusted his fiery locks to his entire satisfaction, returned the bristling wool-card he had borrowed from Galloway (nigger) from New Hanover. A suave smile illumed his features, and a faint odor of Patchouly floated from the folds of his kerchief, as the Manager proceeded to business. Just here, a clangor of trumpets, a clashing of cymbals, and the deep bass of contending drums and trombones resounded from without. The sensation among the animals beggars description! They leaped from their cages, overturned chairs and tables, and rushed pell-mell to the windows, growling, snarling, screaming and roaring. The confusion of this bestial Babel was stunning! The Guyas Scutis and the Valpus broke loose; the Wild Men from Borneo ran over the Sergeant-at-Arms, (who had just walked up,) and closely followed by the Gorillas and Kangaroos, precipitated themselves over the rotunda railing, and dashed out upon the square.

The adequate cause of all this disturbance and uproar among "ye animals," was the approach of another "GREAT GRATUITOUS EXHIBITION"—"A BRILLIANT STREET PAGEANT"—THE GRAND MORAL COMBINATION OF BARNUM & VAN AMBURGH'S MUSEUM AND MENAGERIE COMPANY, AND DAN CASTELLO'S GREAT SHOW!!!

Deserted by Clerks and Doorkeepers, "among the faithless, faithful only he," Kalvin "exalted sat!" It was painful to witness, as we did (with one eye) from under the table, the fierce conflict of contending emotions depicted on every lineament of our hero's face. Curiosity irrepressible wrestled grimly with an invincible sense of duty. The struggle, though sharp, was short. Lifted from the earth, like Antæus, inclination was throttled by another Hercules.

An incident, too, occurred, that heightens this illustrious display of self-sacrificing devotion, and impels us to liken it to that evinced by the mailed sentinel at Pompeii. One Hood, (nigger,) who has the hardi*hood* to seek a lazy liveli*hood* by making konsti-too-shuns at eight dollars per day, instead of shewing truer man*hood* by mauling rails or preaching the Gospel—as he pretends sometimes to do—this Hood, we say, actually moved that the gorillas take a recess of ten minutes, for the express purpose of viewing the other circus and menagerie, then passing by. To the immortal honor of Head Centre Kowles be it said, that with unrivalled, unapproachable self-abnegation, he maintained his equilibrium, preserved, unmoved, his centre of gravity, and absolutely refused to put this motion (so consonant with his own wishes) to the Convention. All honor, say we, to KALVIN J. KOWLES!

In future, let his name be uttered with no unseemly levity! Let the Convention decree him a solemn vote of thanks—adjourn, on his account, until Barnum, Van Amburgh, Castello and Company have left our ciiy—send us his photograph for our private album, and have it elegantly engraved as the only worthy frontispiece for "de archives of gravity!"

"Weave a circle round him thrice,
And close your eyes with holy dread,
For he on honey-dew hath fed
And drank the milk of Paradise."

CITY AND STATE.

Photographic.

The Edenton Transcript gives the following "Charcoal Sketch" of the Konvenshun members:

"Rodman has more brains and Laflin less than any man in the Convention. The best looking man is John W. Graham, of Orange; the meanest looking is John R. French, of Washington city, via Chowan county. The neatest looking man in the menagerie is Col. Heaton; the most greasy looking man is Sam Watts, of Martin."

Pretty well drawn for a "prentice han'," yet we respectfully offer the following photographic substitute to embrace the entire idea of the Transcript artist:

Rodman has more brains than Jones, of Washington; Jones has more brains but less brass than Heaton; Heaton has less head than Galloway; Galloway has more sense than Tourgee, and we must do Galloway the justice to say that we regard Tourgee somewhat superior to Johnny McDonald, of Chatham, who is unquestionably the biggest ass in the menagerie. Plato Durham, of Cleveland, and John W. Graham, of Orange, are, by acclamation, the handsomest men—the hardest featured individual—"the Knight of the Sorrowful Figure"—is Jones, of Washington, and the meanest looking "animiles," par excellence, are John R. French, of Washington city, via Chowan county, and S. S. Ashley, of Plymouth Rock, via New Hanover.

In the Reverend (Heaven save the mark!) Welker, of Guilford, we have "Aminadab Sleek" all over,—as a "lovely man," search the Museum through, and you will find nothing to rival Sweet, of Craven, who is as meek a sneak as "Uriah Heap"—and a heap more so.

Our "man of few words," is red-haired Bryan, the negative delegate from Wilkes, formerly of "Kirk's raiders," alias Jayhawkers, who, since the exhibition first opened at the Capitol, has never been heard to articulate anything but N-o-o-o!—only N-o-o-o!—and no-thing more.

The man—the men of "dirty work"——[Here our "Local" becoming dismayed at the labor requisite for the proper photographing of all the scalawags and scavengers of Mr. Manager Cowles' collection, dropped his pencil and put out for his room at the "Yarboro," where he remains "at these presents." We will try to induce him to complete the "group," and if successful our readers shall have the remaining sketches in to-morrow morning's North Carolinian.—EDS. CAROLINIAN.]

Castello vs. Cowles.

There being no elephant in Cowles' museum, and but one lean and mangy apology for a lion, (videlicet Tourgee) there was much curiosity evinced by the Konvenshuners to see Castello's collection. Dan is reported to have said that he got more mileage and smileage from parties belonging to the opposition show than he had any reason to expect—adding tnat this was only a pointed illustration of the old adage, "A fellow feeling makes us wondrous kind."

To this we may add, disclaiming any disrespect to the animals of Castello's show, "Birds of a feather," &c.

Arrival of General Canby.

Major-General E. R. S. Canby, Commander of the 2nd Military District, and staff, reached this city yesterday morning on the accommodation train. This is, we believe, Gen. Canby's first visit to that part of his dominions, known as North Carolina.

The Newbern Journal of Commerce contains accounts of four robberies committed in that city on Sunday night. Newbern, we thought, was the most thoroughly "loyal" city in the State, judging from the tremendous Radical majority. It has also been peculiarly blessed by the presence of Bureau officials, who are spiritual advisers of the negro population—see letter of Maj. Gen. Miles, Assistant Commissioner of Freedmen, &c.—and better things might reasonably be expected there. How is it that where the Bureau is, there crime has largest license? We can't understand it.

The Edenton Transcript is authorized by a prominent and wealthy gentleman in Chowan to offer one half of his real estate as a subscription towards the construction of a railroad from that town to Norfolk. The Transcript favors the proceeding and calls for one hundred others; ready to do likewise.

A lady of Wilmington, in order to evince her appreciation of Mr. David McRae's efforts to relieve the poor of that city, has presented him with a silver spoon, once the property of Flora McDonald, the heronie of the Cape Fear region, in the days of '76. As a Scotchman, Mr. McRae could scarcely receive a more welcome gift.

YARBOROUGH HOUSE, RALEIGH, N. C.—The Junior, during his late visit to Raleigh, sojourned with Mr. J. M. Blair, the gentlemanly proprietor of that excellently well kept Hotel, known as the Yarborough House. And he would here state that, although he did ample justice to the splendid fare placed before him, his pen fails in an attempt to do justice in a description of what every one must not only see, but taste, to appreciate. A better kept Hotel in all its branches cannot be found anywhere.—Statesville American.

ROSADALIS WILL CURE THE WORST CASES OF SCROFULA. READ THE STATEMENT BELOW, AND DESPAIR NOT.

WILSON COUNTY, Sept. 10, 1867.

DR. J. J. LAWRENCE:

Dear Sir—My youngest daughter, aged five years, has been dreadfully afflicted with Scrofula nearly all her life. I tried a great many Physicians, but without relieving her much; in fact, most of them said there was no hope of cure.—During the last Spring she was worse than ever, her body and limbs being covered with sores and blotches—with face and eyes badly ulcerated and swollen. Whilst in this condition, I was advised by Dr. L. A. Stith to try your Rosadalis. I at once procured three bottles, and commenced giving it to her. The effect was magical. In less than a month, to my great astonishment, she was entirely well.

I am, sir,
Yours, with respect and gratitude,
W. W. BURNETT.

ROSADALIS CURES ALL SKIN DISEASES.

WILSON, N. C., Sept. 15, 1867.

DR. LAWRENCE—Dear Sir:—In 1862 my son, now aged five years, was vaccinated with what proved to be impure matter, which completely destroyed his health. He has been afflicted with an inveterate and extremely troublesome Eruption of the Skin, sometimes breaking out in sores, &c. Rosadalis was prescribed by my family physician—Dr. A. D. Moore. After taking it a few weeks, my son became and remains entirely well. Yours truly,
J. B. DANIEL.

This is to certify that I was cured of Chronic Liver Complaint by Dr. Lawrence's Rosadalis, after having been confined to my bed and house for a long time, and trying various medicines without benefit.

I know of several others in this County, cured through the use of the Rosadalis, and it can be found in nearly every house in my neighborhood, and they all praise it as a great medicine.
THOMAS THORN.

A Winter Thought.

They were bright and green in summer,
These naked, leafless trees,
They tossed their branches gaily,
To meet the laughing breeze.
But the winter's breath hath blighted,
Full many a happy thing,
Whose lamp of joy was lighted,
At the golden fire of spring.

The summer leaves have faded,
The summer flowers are dead,
And the nooks are dark and shaded,
Where once their breath was shed.
Still underneath our footsteps,
The grass is fresh and green,
But the verdure once above us,
No longer may be seen.

We found, in life's sweet spring time,
Fair blossoms 'neath our feet,
Thronging in wondrous beauty,
Our loving looks to greet.
As the years went on, the flowers
Took on a richer hue,
But they faded far more quickly,
Than when our life was new.

There will come another summer,
And zephyrs fresh and free,
Will kiss the leaves returning
To the reft and naked tree.
But for us—we wait the harvest,
And the Angel Reaper's time,
Ere hills of summer beauty,
Shall rise for us sublime.

In the land to which we're going,
No autumn wand hath power,
To blight the leaf immortal,
Or dim the Amaranth flower.
Thither our steps are tending,
For this our dim eyes strain,
The home that knows no parting,
Nor shadow of a pain.

Legislative Garrulity Neatly Rebuked.

The Providence Press tells the following good story, which should convey its own moral:

A member of the General Assembly from a "rural district," who is something of a wag, approached one of the officers of the House, and with a very serious looking countenance and subdued voice stated that he was, both as a Representative and a man in a serious difficulty. The official gravely inquired the cause. The troubled member replied that he was under the necessity of being absent for three days.

"Oh, well," replied the official, "that is nothing, it's a common occurrence."

"But," said the disconsolate one, "that ain't exactly what's the matter. Ye see, I've heard that member speak every day, and a great many times a day, and I've kinder got used to it. It's as natural as hash for breakfast; I shall miss it if I go; and see here"—taking the official by the button hole—"d'ye think he'll have wind enough to hold out till I come back for I do want to hear him once more."

About Visiting Cards.

An important feature has of late been introduced into the use of these articles. The beau monde, of course, make calls by merely sending around cards. That every one knows, and hence there was some sense in the order made by somebody to deliver cards on New Year's day for such of the gentry as were too lazy to go in person. The point is this: When a card is left at your house it is a call in mere form—an empty expression of a still more empty politeness—but if it be really meant for a call, and not as a dead letter, you will find one corner turned down.—The lady visitor, when she stops her carriage at the door of a "dear" friend—one whose kind regards she means to cherish—is careful, as she puts her card into the hands of the flunky to deliver at the door, to turn down the corner as aforesaid. This is as much as to say, "I love you dearly, and I am dying to see you, as you will perceive by looking at the inch of pasteboard," and having made this expressive utterance, the carriage drives on.

A Good Memory.

While at a friend's house the other day, an old negro man came to the door on some errand, and making known his wants, he spied a picture of Confederate Generals that hung on the wall. He called our attention to one, by asking:

"Massa, ain't that General Leonidas Polk?"

We pointed to several, asking which he meant, and he finally guided our finger to the very one in question. We told him he was right, that the picture was General Polk. He replied:

"I thought so; de last time I seed him, was in 1830, in Franklin county, North Carolina. He cum to Mister John D. Hawkins' who was a friend and neighbor to my ole Massa, and libed about 12 miles from Louisburg. We was all Episcopalians and went to hear General Polk preach. Dis is de first time I'se seed him sense, but I'd knode him eny where.

This old negro was at least 70 years old and said he was the slave of Samuel Johnson, of Franklin county, N. C.—Danville Times.

An English newspaper relates that thirty house servants recently waited on their employer, a member of Parliament from Dorsetshire, just as the latter was about to receive the Duke of Cambridge as a visitor, and declared that unless their request was granted, they would leave his service. They wished a change in the bill of fare. Inquiry brought out the fact that they had for breakfast tea and coffee, eggs, bacon, toast, bread and butter; for lunch, bread, cheese and ale; for dinner, hot joints and pastry; for tea, toast, bread and butter; for supper, meat, bread, cheese and ale. They wanted mutton chops and beef steak for breakfast, and the request of the poor creatures was granted.

The "Tribune," in one of its explosive moods a few days since, declared that "Congress was a Thermopylæ of the universe, where its firmness or its weakness determines the fate of unborn millions." The Buffalo "Commercial," after protracted and profound meditation, confesses its inability to discover what this means; but it recalls to mind the fact that "the old Thermopylæ was a very fatal spot to those who undertook to hold it." The unborn millions possibly may never be born, if Congress follows the Tribune's advice.—N. Y. Times.

An old bachelor in New York offered a young lady a pony for a kiss. She gave him a kiss—he refused her the pony; she sued him, he pleaded "no consideration." The court decided that a kiss was a legal consideration and made him pony up.

COUNTY ORGANIZATION.

It is recommended that each County, by popular meetings or through the medium of existing organization, appoint a County Committee, to consist of at least two persons from each Captain's District within its limits.

The County Committee shall take charge of all matters of registration, local organization, &c., within the County, and is requested to make monthly reports to the Chairman of the District Committee, and when necessary, to inform him of such local matters as may require the attention of the District Committee.

It is further recommended that each County Committee cause to be enrolled the names of all the registered voters of their county, who are willing to act and vote with this organization—no man to be thus enrolled without his express consent; and, also, that they cause to be enrolled on a separate list the names of all those who are entitled to register, but who have not done so, and that they use every exertion to secure their registration and active co-operation.

PLATFORM.

The Conservative people of North Carolina, having by their delegates assembled in Convention at Raleigh, on the 5th of February, 1868, to consider the present anomalous condition of the State, and of the country, and to consult together upon the grievances which now afflict and threaten them, and the course of action proper to be adopted in the trying circumstances which surround them, do resolve and declare

1. Our unalterable devotion to the principles of Constitutional liberty, and our fealty to the government of the United States, as set forth in the Federal Constitution. That we sincerely and in good faith accept the legitimate and legal results of the late war, and do hereby reiterate our oft repeated declaration, that we most heartily desire peace and concord with our sister States, and with the entire people of the United States.

2. Resolved, That regarding the Constitution of the United States as the source of all power in the administration of the government, and that the powers of the Executive, Legislative and Judicial department are equal and co-ordinate, as defined by that instrument, we do respectfully and solemnly protest against the enforcement upon our people, of the Reconstruction Acts, and policy of Congress, as unconstitutional, unwise and destructive to society, and violative of that great principle of American politics, that each State shall have the exclusive control of its own internal offices.

3. Resolved, That it is the opinion of this Convention that the great and all absorbing issue, now soon to be presented to the people of the State, is negro suffrage and negro equality, if not supremacy, and whether hereafter in North Carolina and the South, the white man is to be placed politically and, as a consequence, socially, upon a footing of equality with the negro, and, in any localities, subject to his government as a superior. That we are utterly opposed to such change in our government and in our social relations, and that we do hereby earnestly recommend to the people of the State to manfully meet the issue now attempted to be forced upon them, and to use every proper measure within their power to avert the impending mischief.

4. Resolved, That while we are unalterably opposed to political and social equality with the black race, we yet have no unjust prejudicies against that race, that we are determined, by just laws, to protect them fully in all their civil rights, and to confer upon them all privileges which can be done consistently with the safety and welfare of both races.

5. Resolved, That the distressed and impoverished condition of our people earnestly demands the speediest and wisest measures of relief that the Legislature can devise.

6. Resolved, That this Convention recognizes, with feelings of gratitude, the heroic and patriotic efforts of the President of the United States, to restore the Union and harmony and good will among the American people.

7. Resolved, That this Convention regards the Supreme Court of the United States as the legitimate expounder in the last resort of the Constitution—and believe that its rights and powers, in that respect, should be preserved intact as established by law in the earlier and better days of the republic, and that any serious impairment thereof, by legislation or otherwise, will be destructive to the best interests of the country, and dangerous to the liberties of the people.

8. Resolved, That despairing of any restoration of the Southern States under the conduct of that organization which now controls the proceedings of Congress, waiving all former party feeling and prejudice, this Convention does most unhesitatingly recommend and invite the hearty co-operation of all the good people of North Carolina with the Democrats, and Conservative men of the North and West, who are now nobly struggling for the maintenance of the Constitution of the United States, and the restoration of the Southern States to their rights in the Union, on the solid foundation of harmony and peace.

9. Resolved, That this Convention elect four delegates and four alternates for the State at large, to represent the conservative people of North Carolina in the next Democratic National Convention, and that it recommend to the conservative people of the several Congressional Districts, to appoint delegates at an early day to represent them in said Convention.

10. Resolved, That when an election shall be ordered for the ratification of a new State Constitution, the Executive Committee for the State, hereafter to be appointed by this Convention, be instructed, if the time shall be sufficient to call a Convention of the Conservative people of the State, to put in nomination candidates for the various State offices whose election shall then be ordered, and if there shall not be sufficient time to call said Convention, to put in nomination sound Conservative men for said office.

NOTICE TO SHIPPERS OF SPIRITS OF TURPENTINE.

The Seaboard Inland Air Line, Via Portsmouth, Va., is now prepared to ship Spirits Turpentine to Baltimore, Philadelphia and New York, its steamers having been arranged for that purpose.

In shipping from the Northern Cities, or from Carolina, be careful to ship via Portsmouth, and by the Steamship Lines connecting with and forming part of this Route.

From Boston, Merchants and Miner's Line, E. Sampson, Agent, end Central Wharf.

From New York, Old Dominion Steamship Company, Pier 37, North river, M. L. McCready President, Office 187 Greenwich street.

LATEST NEWS TO THE FARMERS OF North Carolina.

Your attention is called to my large stock of Agricultural Implements, Iron Steel, &c., &c.

Corn and Cotton Planters, Corn Shellers,
Hay, Shuck and Corn Stalk Cutters, Fan Mills, Plows, of every kind, Harrows and Cultivators, Spades, Shovels

Cart & Wagon
Boxes, &c.

I call particular attention to Billup's Centreboard Cotton Scraper, and to Billup's Dixie Plow. The first is warranted to be the best Scraper ever yet invented, and the Farmers are requested to test its merits in connection with any other kind. The Dixie Plow is freer from choking than any other yet made; will pass through the ground with less power, and do better work than any other kind. This is no vain boast. 'Tis easy to claim superiority; hence I ask a trial.

If Farmers are not satisfied, the money will be refunded.

40 YEARS.

Deems' Southern Hepatic Pills, are made and sold by the discoverer, that old and well-tried remedy for all diseases caused by DISEASED LIVER, which is attended with all the symptoms of Consumptions. In 1825 the Discoverer was reduced to a mere skeleton, and was pronounced by three of the most skillful physicians of one of our largest cities, to be in an advanced stage of Consumption, and beyond cure. He then began to try experiments on himself, and after many efforts discovered (by the help of an Indian) the remedy which wrought in him a perfect cure. He is now in the 78th year of his age, and at this advanced stage of life retains an excellent constitution. In 32 years itinerating in the ministry, he has seen more than a thousand persons, who were given up to die of Consumption as beyond cure, dragging out a miserable existence, not knowing what ailed them, they were cured by these Hepatic Pills, and afterwards enjoyed the most perfect health.

There is in these Pills a peculiar combination with an article which has probably never before been used as a medicine. They are highly strengthening, and mild in their action on the bowels. In the preparation of these very superior and excellent Pills, no cost or trouble is spared to insure the greatest possible degree of perfection, in point of utility, excellence and comfort; the advantage in these Pills, therefore, is that a cure must be radical and complete, without the necessity of incorporating such drugs into our Pills as to break down the system in one part to remove the disease in another, and leave the patient to groan under worse diseases than heretofore. Where these Pills are known, especially in the Southern States, where they have been used so extensively, they need no recommendation, their merits are so well known by their results, which has given them a reputation that has brought them into great demand. They are therefore destined to be, at no distant day, the only remedy recognized and used by the people where billious diseases are so prevalent.

They can be sent to any point in the United States by mail or express.

Price:—25 cents per box, $2 50 per doz. By the gross, $1°. The cash must either accompany the order for the Medicine, or it will be sent C. O. D. Address
